

Reclassi fy Internet Service Providers As Common Carriers.

Hi net neutrality is how the internet has flourished and how it will continue to flourish. Please do not make us a full blown hypocrite nation and stop telling other countries what to do if you can't uphold to your own net neutrality promises. This is a core policy to keep the internet and all info flowing freely. Don't give into the big monopoly telecom/internet companies we already pay high prices for internet access. If you revoke net neutrality our internet will be highjacked by these monopolies allowing them to throttle which they already do competition. So say Netflix conflicts with Comcast's on demand service... Comcast can then throttle Netflix and then shake down Netflix for some money to give it a chance to compete in turn Netflix will have to jack its price passing off the cost it pays to comcast and other service providers to its own customers. Plus the big monopolies want to do a tier system under the false claim that the internet can't handle all its users and data loads because these companies are only short term thinkers and players because they are monopolies Verizon, comcast, at and t... If you uphold net neutrality it would force the big companies to invest in there crumbling and inadequate infrastructure. Philadelphia is run by comcast for cable internet the fastest and Verizon for DSL can't do much on except browse the web or stream one user at a time and FiOS is in the suburbs and rich areas of the city with no hope of Verizon laying more lines in the city because they say its to expensive. Stop caving into these businesses and corporate monopolies their only interest is more money at any cost and refuse to upgrade their inadequate and crumbling infrastructure. Look at comcast its customer complaints are so high because of their shady business practices that we still must use them for high speed internet because there is no cable line internet competition (I lost 2 days of work because comcast was suppose to give me service and never bothered to show up and gave me excuses and apologies and only 20$ off my bill for a missed 100$ work day and I need that money) I wish the '30s were back so these companies could be broken up and competition could come back in, when we had real people caring for the public not codling these monopolies and being on the take with their bribes and if any of you FCC people have worked or invest in any of these companies that's called conflict of interest and should step aside but most won't because we the people don't enforce this but soon we will have been pushed to a breaking point and will throw out and outcast all that have ruined our once great democracy of freedom over some greedy pigs bent on money money money at any cost with no regard for human life. Prove to this combat veteran that the FCC is for the people and is to protect the people and businesses interest that these monopolies want to scam more money from. The classic the rich get richer by robbing the poor with the governments explicit help! You can stop this or be warned we the people will mobilize to stop this and you each member of the FCC so do what's right for the people not the monopolies.
