I received a letter from Moneygram (which I have a moneygram card for sending money) and they reported that they share my personal data and collect it from third parties. They gave a web site where if you didn't want your data shared to log into [privacyprogramoffice@moneygram.com] and I could request them NOT to share my personal data. When I tried to log into that web site it is impossible to tell them "not" to share my data. They do not provide a way to stop them from sharing my personal data. This should be stopped.

Thanks, Dr. Pope
