The comments attributed to Mimosa: "We've actually created a band plan that notches out the places for the ham radio guys to still operate there and also notches out the current usage of amateur satellite" raise a suspicion that there is no practical experience in microwave propagation at the suggested operating frequency.

I believe this to be an ill considered proposal. I can sympathize with the desire to take spectrum bypassing the auction process, however I believe there will be nothing but losers if this action is permitted.

I have some experience in experiments with microwave propagation over the past 12 years, and would be happy to share results with interested parties.
