

7521099018.txt

I believe RM-11708 is BAD for amateur radio and should NOT be approved. In fact, the FCC should closely examine compliance with both FCC 97.221 and FCC 97.113 by automated and maritime email stations now in operation. I do not think the ham bands, particularly the HF bands should be used by robot stations that transmit over the top of users already on a frequency just because they can.