We're down to 37th in the world now in speed service and cost. And it looks from here that the FCC is going to drive us even lower, turning our internet into another cash cow to send more of our money to the 1%, bit by bit. We paid to create and develop the internet through DARPA and now you and your crony capitalist pals are going to wall it off and charge the rest of us admission. It was supposed to be a public trust, a common carrier, a public utility. But we know you're just figuring out the right weasel words to steal from us what by rights we should all share. Shame on all of you. Oh, you'll all be fine with your kickbacks and lobbyist jobs, just screw the rest of us. You are despicable.
