

7521101655.txt

Tom Wheeler is attempting to circumvent the issue of net neutrality by speaking in generalities about telecom networks. The issue isn't degrading service, rather priority services or "fast lanes" ISPs are imposing on content providers in order to turn a higher profit. Mr. Wheeler is lobbying for these companies who are extorting websites and content providers on a network that is already paid for by the costumers.