

7521103753.txt

ISP's should not have control over the flow of data on the net. Giving just a handful of companies that much power over something so vital to the average person is an extremely bad idea. Stop letting these companies and their lobbyists push us around!