The Comcast TWC acquisition will effectively kill all competition amongst cable companies and lead to even more severe ISP monopolies. As someone who only purchases internet from my local cable company this deal will make it harder for me to find an ISP that provides quality service at an affordable price. This deal also threatens to eliminate net neutrality.

A neutral internet is necessary for education, business, communication & entertainment. ISPs should be common carriers in the same manner that telephone providers are. Allowing ISPs to offer higher speed connections to websites that can afford to pay more is unethical.

A free market cannot thrive when innovation is discouraged and competition is squashed. Our ability to contribute to and enjoy our society increasingly depends on information from the internet. Keeping this resource, which is not owned by any organization, accessible and neutral are in society's and our country's best interests. Please deny this deal and declare ISPs common carriers to keep the internet neutral!
