

7521103929.txt

The FCC needs to reclassify broadband Internet as a telecommunications device because the Internet is a big melting pot of culture and by not enforcing net neutrality the FCC is allowing Internet providers to slow the internet's economy and destroy important culture. This is not an okay thing. The Internet should remain a level playing field for all people and organizations.