

7521104166.txt

The government created the internet. Now it's time for the government to protect the internet. Giving up on net neutrality is an unconscionable act of cowardice. Just consider the hypocrisy of the companies who love capitalism when it helps them, but now want to destroy competition, one of the driving forces of capitalism. Save net neutrality. It's your duty.