The internet as it is now is a place where all people are equal. Every bit of information on the internet is equally accessible to everyone. If this changes to a system where those with the financial resources to do so are able to manipulate what information is available and at what speeds. In addition, small businesses are able to compete with a neutral internet. If big business was able to buy better speeds, small businesses would be at an even larger disadvantage. Please keep the net neutral. Thanks.
