

7521104545.txt

I recently read that the FCC plans to allow "fast lanes" within the internet, allowing certain companies to pay to receive additional speed. This is a gateway to destroying the freedom of the internet, and it is disgusting to allow large corporate entities to control what was until now the ultimate vehicle for free market capitalism.

By voting for the end of net neutrality you would be doing irrevocable harm to our nation. The internet will load so much more slowly for any site that isn't paying cable companies that consumers will be less likely to visit any site that isn't being paid for. It is inconceivable to believe that ending net neutrality would be a positive change for anyone besides major corporations. Once net neutrality is ended by the FCC, it will be nigh impossible to revisit the issue. Your actions will have huge repercussions for decades. I strongly urge you to vote for net neutrality and against corporate control of the internet.