

7521105048.txt

Broadband internet must be classified as a telecommunications (or "Common carrier") service. Every industry in the economy relies on fast and accurate information. If broadband internet is not classified as a common carrier service, besides the harmful economic impact there will also be a lot of harmful effects on humanitarian and environmental issues around the world.