

7521105651.txt

Internet service should be a common carrier utility service. It is used to deliver mail, bills, run phone lines, educational research and everyday necessity living; thus should not be considered for manipulating delivery that could slow or halt users from access to such services likely leading to socio-economic impact.