

7521105860.txt

I believe that the ISP's should not be able to decide which sites to slow down and which sites to allow more bandwidth to. If they do get to slow down sites, then any site of a small business will suffer. Why? Because their larger competitors would be able to buy more bandwidth, while the smaller businesses would not have enough funds to buy extra bandwidth. I believe that the FCC should classify broadband internet as a common carrier service.