

7521106066.txt

USA - We're capitalists? This may be so but in order that it work for the majority we need competition. And this is just not the case for cable, internet and tv access. The end result is that US consumer is paying the highest rate in the world for these services and we do not even have the best technology i.e. fiber optic lines and highest speed.