

7521106111.txt

Please don't allow Net Neutrality to end. By companies deciding what can run faster (which also means they will decide what will run slower), and what we can have access to and what not, we are getting closer and closer to Orwell's 1984. We should have the freedom to choose what websites and information we want to access, and none should be pushed on us (by speed) over another. Please, consider a more fair legislation.