

7521106643.txt

Given the extreme lack of competition among ISPs, it would be irresponsible to allow ISPs to discriminate on the basis of the source of content. Doing so would increase the cost of web businesses, reduce innovation, and increase costs for consumers. Please maintain net neutrality.