

7521107005.txt

It is imperative to our freedom that the internet - a community where everyone is inherently equal - be treated as a telecommunications system. It is the last bastion of equality and freedom.