

7521107339.txt

FCC, you must classify broadband internet as a telecommunications service. Giving ISPs the ability to throttle or control bandwidth based on content type gives them the power to elevate their own content over their competitors. We need equal roads for all internet content, not just those that my ISP deems worthy.