

7521107507.txt

I not as a consumer but as a citizen with certain unalienable rights would like to prevent the death of net neutrality by certain internet service providers. Myself and millions of other citizens do not want to be charged extra for "fast lanes". Lastly I would like to add that I know that my opinion has no money backing it like Tom Wheelers former employers but I would like it to be treated equally just like data on the internet should be.