Within our common day and age net neutrality is a big issue. Equal access is an important part to what we do every day. As a developer I find that it would be terrible to get rid of net neutrality because it could mean that my isp could limit other people's ability to connect to my servers simply because they feel like it. regulations on bandwidth to certain sites could be disastrous. Youtube or netflix for example could be limited because of their drain on bandwidth. In order to survive in this day and age net neutrality must be maintained
