

7521107940.txt

There is, at present, no force for communication, dissemination of knowledge or public education as positive and impactful as the internet. It has united siblings and friends separated by continents, taught men and women to do everything from tie a shoe to check oil pressure and raised millions for our most vulnerable brother and sisters.

With such power comes a desire to control on the part of some. Please, use discretion and wisdom when deciding whom to give this power to.