To remove net neutrality is a slippery slope where it would allow internet service providers to input bias in internet access. As an example if someone has a website which hosts a differing opinion to the ISP(or whoever has control of the internet infrastructure) they could easily get silenced by poor internet quality to and from their site.

I enjoy the internet with net neutrality and I know that if there was no net neutrality I would not be able to do many things I like to do, such as watch Hulu, rent movies from Netflix, and listen to Pandora Radio.
