

7521108912.txt

Net neutrality - the ignorance has to stop. How can competitors rise to challenge other companies when the large companies have a monopoly over EVERYTHING? I thought monopolies were illegal because the United States was all for "fair business practices." Apparently business just flows wherever the money goes, and the US govt. is starting to look like a business now.