

7521109285.txt

Simply put, discontinuing net neutrality is ridiculous and the FCC knows it. You have attempted to defend this concept until now... why change your view? The government regulates or itself controls electricity, water, transportation, and other fundamental elements of our country's infrastructure, why should the internet be any different.
That is all.