

7521109885.txt

I do not want Internet Service Providers to determine what content I get at what speed. It is not their job to determine if a site should get a slower speed for possible copyright infringement they are not law enforcement. They should be classified as telecommunication carriers and follow all of those same laws. The internet is a vast economic engine and it should be open to everyone as a level playing field.