By encouraging and allowing content discrimination from service providers, we open the door to what was previously an open public resource to be completely and utterly controlled by corporate interests instead of the people.

Considering the fact that Comcast itself is on a fast track to controlling 2/3 of the internet connections of the entire country, we are essentially allowing comcast to OWN the American internet. So at this point, we are no longer even approving of a monopoly, we are actively allowing it to become larger than just a simple monopoly through government decisions. This is despicable and greedy, and nothing else.
