

7521110180.txt

keep the internet neutral! throwing out net neutrality will only benefit the companies that already control most of how we get our information and will NOT lead to more innovation or job creation or any of those other good things. it will lead to the stagnation of america's economy relative to the rest of the world.