

7521110386.txt

Please classify ISPs as common carriers, like telcos. This was a horrendous mistake that Michael Powell made, and the massive problems are finally being felt writ large. By classifying ISPs as information services, this allows them to become monopolistic rent takers who drive out innovation and raise costs for everyone. Reclassifying them as common carriers puts everyone on a level playing field and creates healthy markets and innovative companies. Please act to prevent Comcast from becoming the next Standard Oil.