

7521110446.txt

Please don't get rid of the net Neutrality Act, companies like TWC will only abuse their power. If you let this happen, then everything the Internet stands for will be gone. Internet access will become more expensive and ultimately will lead to a decline in education through educational sites such as Khan Academy and Wikipedia. We need equal and non-discriminatory access to information, and a way for people to show creativity and innovation.