Net Neutrality is necessary for the citizens of the United States, and you, the FCC, to protect. It is a cornerstone issue for my generation to preserve the rights of people to access any and all information. Destruction of these rights will lead our country further away from prosperity, again, as crucial information for learning, creation, and innovation will become limited. The shortsightedness required to actually remove Net Neutrality is mind-boggling. The willingness of a few (I'm looking at you, higher-ups that move from FCC to Comcast, or vice versa) to line their wallets at the expense of our entire country, is shameful. Please do the right thing and restore Net Neutrality. Thank you.
