

7521110914.txt

The internet is a free landscape of community and communication. It must remain that way. Arbitrary preferential treatment for certain data would destroy the very nature of the internet. For this reason, I feel that broadband internet must be reclassified as a title II common carrier telecommunications service.