

7521111014.txt

Stopping Net Neutrality is detrimental to citizens of the United States of America, and will ultimately be a detriment to the growth and innovation of the country.

Without Net Neutrality America will begin to fall behind global competitors who do support Net Neutrality. Again, removing Net Neutrality will stifle innovation, and be a detriment to the future of the country.