

7521111074.txt

Net neutrality is absolute crucial to maintain free speech in this country and to ensure that broadband internet companies do not control the content we receive. Just like telephones, internet and other common carriers, the Internet should not be controlled by the increasingly smaller ISPs, at the detriment of their competitors or the small companies who cannot afford to compete. Please maintain net neutrality and keep all data available equally by classifying broadband internet as a Title II telecommunications service.