

7521111745.txt

Please recognize Internet Service Providers as Common Carriers. All data should be treated equally, and in these modern times where practically every person uses data be it on a phone, tablet, or computer.... An internet connection through a data service provider is almost as necessary to modern life as water and power.

In addition this move would continue to allow continued growth of web based startup companies, and would be a move that would allow the smallest of startups to compete with the largest of competitors fairly.