

7521112123.txt

Net neutrality is one of the most important issues of our time. The electric company doesn't tell us how we can use our electricity. Why should ISP be able to throttle our internet to certain websites effectively telling us how to browse. Getting rid of net neutrality only helps ISPs and hurts everyone else who uses the internet. The internet is the single best tool for information in the world. And letting any company control that would be disasterous.