

7521112686.txt

I consider myself a citizen of the internet, and I believe that the internet should have all data treated equally with no interference. The internet is a treasure trove of information formed by humanity by humanity and is a force for progress. Limiting net neutrality would limit this progress for the benefit of an ISP's profit margin.

Best wishes and don't forget to be awesome,
Daniel