

7521113475.txt

We must maintain net neutrality.
Removing net neutrality would decrease the competition within the naturally efficient space of the internet, through bigger companies being able to buy out some of the bandwidth needed to grow.
Any potential upside is drastically outweighed by this fact.