

7521113874.txt

I urge the FCC to classify Broadband Internet as a common carrier. The Internet is the largest and most powerful force for economic, cultural, and educational equality in human history. To allow a handful of corporation to potential restrict or dilute access to billions of people is unconscionable. The Internet needs the protection of the government, for the people, to provide for a better future for all of us.