It is imperative that you reclassify broadband internet as Title II common carrier telecommunications service. Democracy thrives on the open and unfettered flow of information; the internet is an instrument through which our citizenry have free and fair access to that information. The dogma we tout regarding American democracy necessitates a doctrine of net neutrality. Eliminating net neutrality comes at the grand expense of nearly everyone, for the benefit of a small, and already affluent, minority. Do the right thing, and reclassify. Thank you.
