

7521114076.txt

Net Neutrality is likely one of the most important issues to come before the FCC in a long time. It is time to reclassify the Internet as a Title II Telecommunications service and preserve equal access for all data. Anything less is a disservice to the consumers you are supposed to be protecting.