

7521114315.txt

I believe in net neutrality because big business has taken control of the internet's speed. Only regulation can give entrepreneurial start ups the break they need and allow for competition to exist in the industry.