

7521114333.txt

Obama promised Net Neutrality. Efforts by the FCC chairman to provide privileges to some applications or websites over others will be the end of an open Internet, and will only reduce competitiveness and increase prices.