

7521114483.txt

The internet and its use should be protected under a title 2 telecommunications service. Electric companies are not able to restrict a users wattage only to offer a monthly subscription for brighter lightbulbs. Neither should the spread of information be abused in such a way.