

7521115081.txt

A healthy democracy requires an educated populace, which in turn requires the free and open exchange of information among all citizens, not just those with the most money. Please keep the internet open so that all Americans can have access to information.