

7521115806.txt

Please classify broadband internet access as a common carrier service. Providers already charge for access to the internet. They should not be able to charge more for access to specific sites or types of data. It is not their job to dictate what I can and cannot access, especially when they have a financial interest in forcing me to use specific sites by slowing down their competitors.