

7521116168.txt

ISPs need to be Title II Common Carriers. If not, something needs to address the large monopolies they have become. As their customer, how can they then request a second payment for something I have already paid them to deliver to me?