The benefits a faster internet channel brings to the internet are not greater in magnitude to the risks giving such power over to companies will be.

Net Neutrality protects us from those risks by allowing all data on the internet to be treated the same; preventing road blocks, corruption, unfair treatment, and overall human bias.

We would rather take a little inconvenience, if it means preserving freedom.

I, as a United States Citizen, of the great state of California, feel the feet of tyranny readying itself to strangle the internet connections of this Country and stifle the innovation which potentially could lift this nation, into a new great second Industrial Revolution, the likes of which we've never seen before.

Please classify the Internet as a Title II Telecommunication service, and protect Net Neutrality. We as the citizenry will speak until this is made so.
