Nothing can stop the world from continuing to move online, the remaining question is will we make a stand against censorship-for-the-profit-of-a-tiny-few?

PARAGRAPH BREAK

Nothing can stop Comcast et al's anti-competitive and anti-consumer practices (well except free market competition, but lets fight one battle at a time), nor can anything stop the remainder of the country from hating them for it, the remaining question is who do you want on your side?

PARAGRAPH BREAK

Nothing can stop the rest of the developed world from looking down on the US for our internet practices, the remaining question is will you use your power to give them one fewer practice to quite-rightly hold against us?

PARAGRAPH BREAK

Please?
